7th ECSLHE

TRANSFORMING EUROPE THROUGH UNIVERSITY COLLABORATION

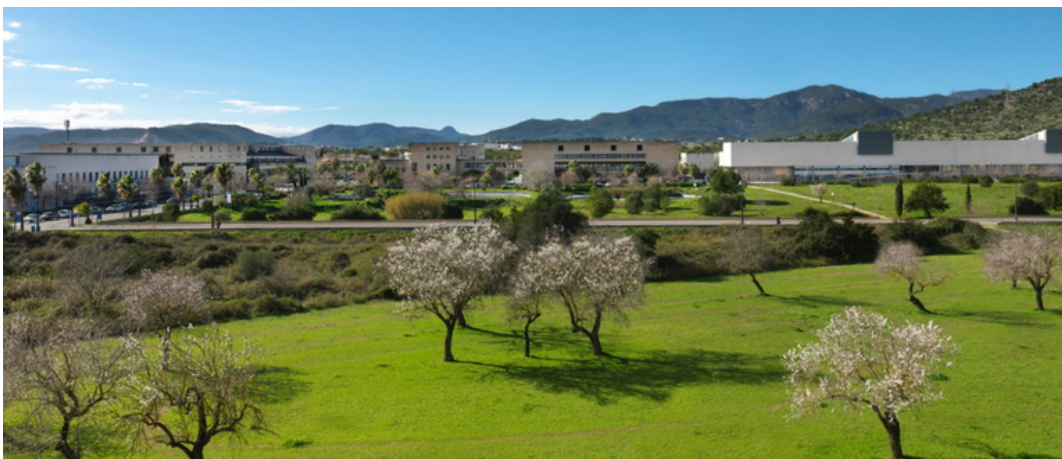

24-25 September 2024

E★SLHE

Europe is facing major socio-political, economic, and environmental challenges. Higher education is in a unique position to promote and sustain lasting changes in societies. Service-learning is a key pedagogical approach, not only because of its impact on excellence in the academic field, but also because of its possibilities of contributing to transformations towards fairer, more democratic, and environmentally responsible societies.

About the 7th European Conference on Service-Learning in Higher Education

In line with the results of the previous conferences organized by the European Association of Service-Learning in Higher Education, this event will allow further progress on issues related to the institutionalization of service-learning in the European Higher Education Area. Strategic partnerships and institutional alliances are key for promoting service-learning, but also to develop impactful research and innovative strategies adapted to the different contexts within the diversity of Europe.

Hosted by:

Chair: Berta Paz Lourido

Europe's multidimensional diversity is a challenge, but it also represents an important opportunity for managing changes from the local to the regional, national, European and global spheres, underpinned by values of civic engagement, equity and social justice.

The 7th ECSLHE will take place in Mallorca (Balearic Islands, Spain) within the framework of the International Week of Service-Learning in Higher Education (23-27 September 2024). For this reason, in addition to scientific activities such as keynote presentations, round tables and communications, different training actions and social activities will be developed to promote co-learning and networking among participants. Specifically, the Erasmus + SLIDE project will have a particular space to disseminate its results and advance in its final development.
